Original Poetry.

ADA.

BY MISS LOUISE R. VICKROY.

Like brightest of visions, in brightest of hours,
With green leaves unfolding, and beautiful flowers,
With the summer light gleaming on bower and tree,
And the song of the bird and the hum of the bee,
Come Ada.

When the breezes that come with her ringlets to play,
Were sweet with the breath of the newly-mown hay,
We met by the brook side to wander alone, [own.
Where I clasped her white hand, where I called her my Sweet Ada.

How warm is the sunlight, and blue are the skies,
And fair in the streamlet the hill-shadow lies,
And I hear the soft flow of the waters again,
But I wait and watch, and I listen in vain—
For Ada.

Far away in the church-yard a grave mound is made,
Where the white marble gleams in the willow-treeshade,
And shrowded in silence and darkness below,
And pale and as cold as the last winters snow,
Sleeps Ada.

"CAN'T AFFORD IT."

A SKETCH OF EVERY DAY LIFE.

BY SILVANUS COBB, JR.

'Can't afford it, Maria.'

'But you might if you would only think so Walter,' plead the young wife.

'I can't do it,' the husband returned, very emphatically. 'It would cost two or three dollars, at the very lowest, to put up such a gate and the old bars will answer every purpose.'

'No, they won't, Walter. The neighbor's children very often leave the bars down, and then stray cattle come into the garden. We may loose more than the price of a gate in one hour if a cow should happen to get in when I am away.'

'I should like to know who leaves the bars down,' said Walter, very threateningly. 'The same children might leave a gate open.'

'But we can have a gate made to close of its own accord, with a weight or a spring,' suggested the wife. 'John Niles has had a gate put up in his yard.'

'But I ain't John Niles, my dear.' Walter wished his wife to remember.

'But his family is as large as yours, and his wages are not so high.'

'Never mind about that. I tell you I can't afford it—at any rate, not at present.' And with this Walter started off to his work.

Walter Gray was a young man, about thirty; an industrious mechanic; had been married some eight years; and had an interesting family. He meant to provide well for those who depended upon him, and in a measure he did so. But there were many little comforts, which, at times they really needed, and which, in the end might have proved a source of saving. And more to it might have added to his happiness, had he felt able to grant these little requests. But he couldn't afford it:—at least so he thought; and whether he thought so with sound judgment the sequel will show.

The gate which his wife had been so anxious to have put up, was needed at the entrance to the garden, back of the house, where there was only a pair of short bars. The children often came through there, and sometimes left the way open behind them. In short, there were many ways in which those bars were apt to be left down, and Maria Gray had very often to leave her work to drive out the cattle that got in. It was only by extreme watchfulness on her part that the garden was preserved. She had spoken several times to her husband about it, but he felt that he couldn't afford it. She must keep her eyes upon the spot, and see that the bars were kept shut.

Only a few days after this, Mrs. Gray asked her husband if he was going to hire a pew in the church for the following year, and he told her that he did not think he should.

'But you can hire half of one. We can have half of Mr. Niles' pew for five dollars.'

'I can't afford it,' was Walter's reply. 'I should get no great good from the meetings, any way.'

'Don't say so, husband. Suppose everybody should feel like that. You certainly wouldn't wish to live, and bring up your children where there were no religious influences. And if you reap the benefit of good christian institutions, you certainly ought to feel willing to help to support them.'

'So I would be willing, if I could afford it; but I can't.'

Mrs. Gray looked very serious, and seemed to hesitate as though there was a subject upon her mind, which she felt delicate about broaching; but it had occupied her thoughts too long and she determined to let it out.

'Walter,' she said, a little tremulous, but still resolutely, 'you have ten dollars a week.'

'Yes.'

'And how much of that does it take to feed us.'

'I don't know, I'm sure. I only know that it takes it all to feed and clothe us and pay up the interest on the house.'

'I havn't had a new dress since last fall; and I was reckoning up yesterday how much we had spent for the children, and I found it to be only fifteen dollars for the last ten months. I have worked over some of cousin John's clothes for Charles, and Lucinda jumps into Mary's dresses as the latter outgrows them.

'That's all very well,' replied Walter, a little testily. "I understand my own business, and I know just what I can afford and what I can't. While I have the payments to make on my house, I must economize—I must economize!' he repeated, very decidedly.

'And I would have you ecomomize, returned the wife; but do not forget that all is not economy which we may call so. I think that to hire half of John Niles' pew would be a source of economy in comfort and lasting good. It would be five dollars laid out to a good advantage—sure, to return a heavy interest to us and our children. And I think it might be a source of great saving to put up a good gate at the back—'

'Stop!' interrupted Walter, with a nervous motion. 'You've said enough about this, I know my means.'

'Let me say one word,' urged Maria.—There was an earnestness in her tone which caused her husband to stop and listen. 'If you will give me five dollars a week, I will agree to furnish all the provisions for the houshold, and clothe myself and children. I will do this for one year. That will leave you three hundred and sixty dollars with which to clothe yourself and make your payment on the house. On the house you have only to pay a hundred dollars, with interest for two years, which will leave you a hundred and forty-eight dollars for your clothes and—other expenses.'

Walter was upon the point of denying this result of the case, but he saw, upon a moment's reflection, that from his wife's statement, the deduction was correct, so he denied the esatement.

'You cannot furnish the food, and clothe yourself and children, for the sum you have named,' he said.

Thereupon Maria sat down and made know a few facts to him that had been hidden within the mysteries of her own house-keeping. She was not long in proving to him that during the past year, the items of expenditure within said limits had not averaged five dollars per week,

Walter said 'pooh!" and then he added 'nonsense!' and then he left the house.

'There must be some mistake,' he said to himself, after he had got away from the house; and he really believed there was a mistake.

'Have a glass of soda, Bill? Come Tom —have a glass?'

'Don't care if I do,' said Tom and Bill.

'Have some, Ned?'

And Ned said, yes. So the clerk prepared four glasses of soda, for which Walter Gray paid twenty-five cents.

'Let's have a game of 'seven up for the oysters,'' said Bill, after the day's work was done.

The game was played, and Walter lost, so he paid a dollar for four oyster suppers —suppers which none of them needed, and which did them more harm than good.

'Have a cigar, Walter?' asked Tom, Walter said yes; and in return he paid for four glasses of ale.

One evening they met, after work, and Ned proposed that they should 'toss up' to see who should pay for the chowder.

'Come John,—won't you come in?' he said addressing John Niles who stood by.

'No—guess not,' was John's reply.

'You'd better. Its only for the chowder—for five if you come in.'

'I can't.'

'It's of no use to ask him,' spoke Walter, in rather a sarcastic tone. 'He don't spend his money in that way.'

John's face flushed, and his lips trembled, but he restrained the bitter words which were struggling upon his tongue, and turned and left the shop.

'He's a mean fellow,' cried Tom, loud enough for Niles to hear him.

'Tight as the bark of a tree,' added Walter in a tone equally loud.

John Niles heard the remarks, but did not come back.

The four remaining men 'tossed up' and the lot fell upon Walter and Tom.

Then they 'tossed it off,' and it fell upon Walter, who paid four shillings for the chowder.

Walter started for home about nine o'clock, and on his way he was overtaken by Niles.

'Walter,' said the latter in a kind but earnest tone, 'I want to speak with you. You have wronged me this evening, and I wish you to understand me. For the opinion of Bill Smith and Ned Francis, I care not, but I do not wish you to misapprehend me. We live too near together, and I would not loose your good opinion.'

'Well—go ahead,' returned Walter, who was sensible of the fact that his companion was one of the best and kindest neighbors in the world.

'You said I was mean.'

'No, no,—'twas not I who said that.'

'Well, you said I was 'tight as the bark of a tree.''

Walter could not deny this, so John proceeded—

'I refused to join you in your little game for three reasons, either one of which would have been sufficient to deter me. First: I have resolved not to engage in any such games of hazard. Second: I did not want any chowder. And third: I could not have afforded to pay for five extra suppers, if the lot had fallen upon me.'

'Couldn't have afforded it?' replied Walter, with a slight tinge of unbelief in the tone.

'No,' returned the other, 'I could not. I used to be on hand for any such game, and I thought it 'twould be mean to refuse, but I have learned better. Let me tell you how I first came to see the folly of being afraid to spend my money for nothing. Shall I tell you?'

'Certainly,' returned Walter, who already began to see something.

'Well,' pursued Niles, 'one noon, as I was going away from home, my wife asked me for a dollar. She wanted it to buy some cloth with. I asked her if she could not get along without it. I had only three dollars with me, and I hated to let one of them go. She said she really needed the cloth, but if I hadn't the money she could wait. I knew she was disappointed, but I thought she could get along, and I went away. That evening we went into a saloon, and we had a fine sociable time. It cost me just one dollar and a half. I paid the money willingly—without even a thought of objection—and then I went home. When I entered the hall, I heard my wife trying to pacify our oldest child. The little thing had expected a new dress which had been promised her, and felt badly because she had not got it.

'Wait,' urged my wife, as the child sobbed in her disappointment. 'Papa hasn't got the money now; but he'll have some by-and-by, and then you shall have a new dress. Poor Papa has to work hard.

'The words smote me to the heart. I could not afford a dollar to dress my little child, but could afford any amount for the useless entertainment of others. The dollar which I could not get when she asked for it, I paid almost twice-fold for nothing. But it learned me a lesson. I opened my eyes and I have kept them open. On the very next morning I offered my wife the dollar, but I could not afford anymore for the beer man. I had not dreamed how much I was wasting, but when I stopped up the leak, and allowed my funds to flow into their proper channel, I soon found I could afford every reasonable comfort my wife and children needed. So I stick to the principles which proved so beneficial to myself and family. Ah! what's that? There's an animal in your garden Walter.'

They had reached the garden fence, and by the dim starlight, Walter could see a horned beast trampling among his sweet corn. The bars had either been left down or hooked down, and a stray cow had got in. They drove her out, and then Niles went home. Walter saw that the beast had done considerable damage, but he was not angry, for he had something of more importance to think of. He went and sat down beneath an apple tree, and pondered.

'Bless me, if she hasn't put the case down about square!' he said to himself at the end of some minutes meditation.

'Let me see,' he pursued, there's sixty-seven cents for chowder—fifty cents for ale—fifty cents for soda. And that's within the last three days. A dollar and sixty-seven cents. Is it possible! Over a hundred dollars a year! and yet I can't afford two dollars for a gate, nor five dollars that my family may have religious instruction for a year! Walter Gray—I think you had better turn over a new leaf.'

And Walter Gray did turn over a new leaf. On the next day he did two things thereby astonishing his wife; and refused to toss up for the ale, and thereby astonishing a crowd of expectant thirsty ones. For a month he pursued this course, and by the expiration of that time he could fully appreciate the blessings that were dawning upon him. He discovered that he could afford everything that the comfort of his family demanded: and in arriving at this result, he had only to cut loose those things which he really could not afford. It was a wonder to him how he could have been so foolish. When at the end of the year he had paid his note, and had ninety-two dollars left, he felt at and as if there must be some mistake; but when his wife went over the household expenditures with him, and showed him that all they needed had been bought and paid for, he saw just how it was. He saw that for years he had been wasting his substance; and depriving himself and loved ones of the comforts they needed—not intentionally, but through the same mistake that leads thousands into the same course. But he did so no more.

Sometimes even now, Walter Gray says—'Can't afford it,' and he says it very emphatically, too, but it is not when his wife and children ask for comfort and joy, nor yet when the needy poor ask for help and charity—for he can afford all that; but it is when the wild speculation, or the loose companion, ask him to engage in some game of hazard which may rob himself and family of their substance.—Then he says—and he repeats it if need be. 'CAN'T AFFORD IT.'

A Silent Couple.

There floated about the papers a story of a Cincinnati couple who had not exchanged a word during twenty years of married life. They were not mutes, however. The Baltimore Dispatch tells of a similar instance:—The parties were wealthy and highly respectable. They had a numerous family of children, who had grown up and were all in flourishing circumstances, and troops of grand-children, who frequently visited them. They were falling into the sere and yellow leaf, and were both tottering to the tomb at the age of nearly eighty; but, though they had lived under the same roof, eaten at the same table, entertained the same friends, received together the frequent visits of their children and grand-children, they had not interchanged a word for forty years.

To almost every one the cause was a mystery, and an impenetrable one, for neither husband nor wife would bear from any person the slightest allusion to the subject. Yet there was one, an old servant, almost as old as her master and mistress, who did know, but kept the secret faithfully. It was whispered, however, that jealousy was the cause. The husband had found in the possession of his wife some letters from a former suitor that she had heedlessly, perhaps thoughtlessly preserved. Impetuous and unjust accusations followed. The indignant wife told her jealous husband she would never speak to him again, but for the sake of her children would not leave him. She kept her word with persistent obstinacy, and he followed the same course. They appeared absolutely indifferent to each other's existence

At length the old man died. The wife had not come near him in his last sickness, and she even came not to look upon his corpse until they were about closing the coffin, and bearing him from the house in which they had dwelt so singularly together for nearly half a century, when, with a firm though feeble step she entered the room, walked up to the coffin, gazed a few moments at his features, now motionless in death, and, without a word, a tear, or even a shadow of an expression on her wrinkled face, went back, unassisted, to her appartment. The funeral took place, and during the absorbing proceedings of the time, she was left alone. After the funeral cortege had departed, and was out of sight, the old servant repaired to the room of her mistress. She noticed she was sitting very still in her chair, looking apparently out of the window. Seeing her continue motionless, she spoke to her; there was no answer. She went to her—she was dead!

A Speech on Scolding Wives.

At a Young Men's Debating Society, somewhere out in Illinois, the question of discussion was, "Which is the greatest evil—a scolding wife or a smoking chimney?" After the appointed disputants had concluded the debate, a spectator rose and begged the privilege of making a few remarks on the occasion. Permission being granted, he delivered himself in this way:

"Mr. President—I've been almost mad listening to the debate of these youngsters. They don't know anything about a scolding wife! Wait till they have had one upwards of eight years, and hammered and jammered and jawed at all the while—wait until they have been scolded because the fire wouldn't burn, because the oven was too hot, because the cow kicked over the milk; because the sun shined, because the hens didn't lay, because the butter wouldn't come, because they are too soon for dinner, because they are one minute too late, because they slapped the young ones, because they tore their trowsers or because they did anything, (whether they could help it or not,) before they begin to talk of the evils of a scolding wife; why, Mr. President, I'd rather hear the clatter of hammer and stones, and twenty tin pans, and nine brass kettles, than a din din of a scolding wife. Yes sir—ee, them's my sentiments. To my mind, Mr. President, a smoky chimney is no more to be compared to a scolding wife than a little negro is to a dark night."

ADVICE GRATIS.—Every man ought to pay his debts, if he can; every man ought to help his neighbor, if he can; every man ought to get married, if he can; every man should do his work to suit his customers, if he can. Every wife should please her husband, if she can; every wife should sometimes hold her tongue, if she can; every lawyer should sometimes tell the truth, if he can; every man ought to mind his own business, and let other people's alone, if he can.

☞ "This is not gain," as the spider said when he caught a fly.

Dancing.

We copy the following true and humorous description of modesn dancing from the pen of a ready writer, who already enjoys an enviable reputation as an author:

"Look! look!" said a half dozen lady voices one pretty night, as we sat leaning against the outside of the ball room. We did look—alas! for our poor modesty, we ought not to have done so. "If my children were among them, I'd whip them well for it. Yes, if they were full grown, I'd give them the hickory." So said the wife of one of our princess, as she turned away in utter disgust.

Doctor, let me describe a little—if the public may look, certainly it may read, though it run. A group of the splendid ones is on the floor, and lovingly mated. The gents encircle their partners waists with one arm. The ladies and gentlemen stand closely face to face. The gents are very erect and lean a little back. The ladies lean a little forward (Music.) Now all wheel and whirl, circle and curl.—Feet and heels of gents go rip-rap, rip-rap rip. Ladies feet go tipity-tip, tipity-tip-tip. Then all go rippity, clippity, tippity, hippity, skippity, hoppity, jumpity, bumpity, thump. Ladies fly off by centrifugal momentum. Gents pull ladies hard and close. They reel, swing, slide, sling, look tender, look silly, look dizzy. Feet fly, tresses fly, hoops fly, dresses fly, all fly. It looks tuggity, huggity, pullity, squeezity, pressity, rubbity, rip. The men look like a cross between steelyards and "limber jacks," beetles and jointed X's. The maidens tuck down their chins very low, or raise them exceedingly high. Some smile, some grin, some giggle, some frown, some pout, some sneer, and all sweat, freely. The ladies are brought against breast, nose against nose, and toes against toes. Now they go again, making a sound like gaorgy, porgey, derey, peery, ridey, pidey, coachy, poachy.

This dance is not much but the extras are glorious. If the men were women, there would be no such dancing. But they are only men, and so the thing goes on by woman's love of it. When a boy, we used to visit these Dutch dances, and trip the whirling beer barrels, as they passed our feet, and then run for dear life. We still feel the instinct of tripping in our toes. A secular writer says: There is no established standard of propriety about this matter. If I were a lady, I might object to these dances; but being a man I do not. We certainly ought to be satisfied if they are."

HOW TO GO TO BED.—Hall's Journal of Health, in speaking on this subject says:

"In freezing Winter time do it in a hurry, if there is no fire in the room, and there ought not to be unless you are quite an invalid. But if a person is not in good health it is best to undress by a good fire, warm and dry the feet well, draw on the stockings again, run into room without a fire, jump into bed, bundle up, with head and ears under cover for a minute or more, until you feel a little warmth; then uncover your head, next draw off your stockings, straighten out, turn over on your right side and go to sleep. If a sense of chillness comes over you on getting into bed, it will always do you an injury; and its repetition increases the ill effects without having any tendency to 'harden' you. Nature ever abhors violence. We are never shocked into good health. Hard usage makes no garment last longer."

☞ A poor man, some of whose family were sick, lived near Deacon Murray, and occasionally called at his house for a supply of milk. One morning, after family worship, the Deacon invited him to go out to the barn with him. When they got into the yard, the Deacon, pointing to one of the cows, exclaimed: "There, take that cow, and drive her home."—The man thanked him heartly for the cow, and started for home; but the Deacon was observed to stand in the attitude of deep thought, until the man had gone some rods. He then looked up, and called out, "Hey, bring that cow back." The man looked around, and the Deacon added, "Let that cow come back, and you come back too." He did so, and when he came into the yard again, the Deacon said:—"There take your pick out of the cows; I ain't a going to lend to the Lord the poorest cow I've got."

☞ A Scotch Duchess was examining the children of one of her charity schools, when the teacher put the question—"What is the wife of a king called?" "A queen." "The wife of an emperior?" "An empress," was replied with equal readiness. "Then what is a wife of a duke called?" "A drake," exclaimed several voices, mistaking the title "duke" for "the duck."

☞ "I never complained of my condition," says the Persian poet, Sadi, "but once, when my feet were bare, and I had no money to buy shoes; but I met a man without feet, and was contented with my lot."

COUNTRY NEWSPAPES.—One of our city magasine writers pays a high compliment to the newpaper literature of our country, in saying that he "has seen in little country newspapers prose articles of genuine merit—articles in which were displayed the highest order of capacity; and yet beyond the narrow circle of a country, where, perhaps, they were not and could not be appreciated, were never read, or even heard of. We open every week in our office country papers, whose editorials would adorn the great city papers and make their reputation. But they pass away after being glanced over, and are seen no more. There is a great amount of talent in the country that could be made the basis of splendid reputation.—But it wants a theatre for display. Like the cold steel, it must be smitten to produce fire. It is modest, timid, and retiring, and lives in oblivious shades, while contemporaneous and arrogant ignorance takes the lead in all public matters and gathers the laurels to be won. Look at the second and third classes of conspicuous men among us. What they lack in capacity they make up in an article commonly called "brass." They have stepped in where the highest capacity feared to tread. They reap honors, emolument and wealth, while the timid children of genius, like the glow-worm, shine in obscurity, and go wanting all their days.—He will indeed be a benefactor who shall teach true merit how to be courageous."

☞ In a case of some importance, tried last week, at Hollidaysburg, Asheom vs. Getty, one of the Attorneys for the Dft. was examined in the case as a witness on the part of his client and afterwards argued the case to the jury, asking, of course, a verdict for the Dft. partly on his own testimony. We see that Senator Coffey has introduced a bill into the Senate making important changes as to the rule of evidence, and we would respectfully suggest to our Legislators the propriety of adding a clause to it disallowing members of the bar to give testimony in any case in which they are concerned. It is certainly calculated to lower this noble profession to see a grave counsellor try a case—be examined as a witness—and argue to the jury that he is right because he swore so. Every lawyer, independent of the fees he has at stake, feels an interest in the result of the case being tried. If there is nothing in the law to prevent it, and we believe there is not in the United States, (although it is not allowed in England) and professional ethics do not prevent Lawyers from being witnesses in cases in which they are interested, a plain statute should be written and passed forbidding it.

SLIGHTLY SOLD.—On monday afternoon last, a couple of men, supposed to be the robbers of the Coshocton County Treasury, an account of which we published last week, were arrested at Columbus, Ohio. They informed the officers who arrested them, that they were shoemakers, but the weight of one of the carpet-bags created suspicion. At Columbus they were taken before a Magistrate, when the officers immediately commenced pulling out the contents of the bag. Some old rags that were not worth carrying were first pulled out—"most suspicious," said the officers, "put in on top to conceal what is underneath"—next came a shoemaker's "kit," awls, knives, &c., but at last, at the very bottom lay the weighty treasure carefully wrapped up in a leather apron. It was handed out cargerly and unwrapped with great care by the magistrate, when out rolled a shoemaker's lapstone. They were discharged.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.—A fire occurred in Reserve township, Allegheny county, about half-past 11 o'clock, on Monday evening last, consuming a house occupied by a family named Rodgers. Mr. Rodgers, his wife and four children were buried with the house, but one, a boy 8 years old, escaping.

THE TONNAGE TAX.—The Philadelphia Press has been reliably informed, that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company refuse to pay the tonnage tax, imposed by their charter, to the commonwealth, and intend to test its constitutionality in the courts, as advised by their counsel, Messrs. Cuyley, Meredith and Crittenden, in an opinion recently published. The amount due at the present time, for the last six months, is over one hundred thousand dollars.

PEN AND SCISSORS.

☞ Never argue with any but men of sense and temper.

☞ Demanded—a new Court House at Harrisburg. It is certainly needed.

☞ A monster ox, weighing 4,160 pounds is now on exhibition at Harrisburg.

☞ The house of Mr Geo. Walter, at Spruce Creek, was destroyed by fire, on the 15th ult.

☞ Daniel Musser, of Boalsburg, recently killed two deers at one shot on the Seven Mountains.

☞ Rather Beefish—that "Horrible Affair" related in the last number of the Huntingdon American.

☞ Somebody has defined glory to be "getting killed in battle, and having your name spelt wrong in the papers."

☞ The dentists of Indiana are about to form a State Association. Their seal will be a molar with the motto, "we pull together."

☞ The bridegroom and the bride give each other their hands at the alter, as prize-fighters shake hands before they begin to fight.

☞ The members of the Maine Legislature have a concert of sacred music every morning, fifteen minutes before the House organizes.

☞ A man in Machias Me., having some hay destroyed by some drunken men, sued the man who sold them the liquor, for its value, and the jury gave him a verdict.

☞ Row, of the Clearfield Journal says that he has found one of the teeth of a "liting frost," Where did you find it, in Harrisburg or Clearfield?

☞ Some one, speaking of a celebrated bass singer, said: "He led a very abandoned life." "Oh, yes," replied Sealey, "the whole tenor of his life has been base."

A writer in one of our medical reviews says, that if a cow is diseased, the milk is necessarily diseased too. Prentice says, that the common treatment of diseased milk is the water cure.

☞ The last Court in Huntingdon County sent one man to the Penitentiary for 15 months—a boy to the House of Refuge, and a couple of darkies to board with the Sheriff for a quarter.

☞ A body of a small dog has been sent from Boston and buried by the side of its former mistress, at Mount Hope cemetery, Portland, Me. It is said to have grieved itself to death at her loss.

☞ Lawyer W., while entering his cold bed in a cold winter night, exclaimed, "Of all ways of getting a living, the worst a man could follow, would be going about town in such nights as this, and getting in bed for folks."

☞ The Ruling Passion.—A Yankee Captain was caught in the jaws of a whale, but was finally rescued, badly wounded. On being asked what he thought while in that situation, he replied. "I thought he would make about forty barrels."

☞ Petitions have been sent to the Massachusetts Legislature, for such a modification of the jury law as will allow judges to accept the verdict of three-fourths of a jury, in civil suits, where, in their opinion, the cause of justice would be served thereby.

☞ A man has declined being a candidate in a new State because he is not a legal citizen—has never paid a tax or any other debt—owns no property—can't read or write—is blind—has lost four fingers from his left hand—has ten children, and can't leave home for fear they will abuse their mother.

☞ The Huntingdon American warns all persons to be on the lookout for an individual calling himself S. Jones, and acting as agent for the "Wassapoag Company," New London N. H., as he is a humbug. The name of the Company would be enough to create suspicion, as it is decidedly "waspish."

MUNICIPAL ELECTION IN LANCASTER.—Lancaster, Feb. 1.—The municipal election took place to day, when George Sanderson, Democrat, editor of the Intelligencer, was elected Mayor over the present incumbent, Thomas Burrowes, Opposition, by 7 majority. The vote cast was a heavy one.

☞ It appears from the report of the Inspector, that during December, there were exported from Hampton Roads, Virginia, 117,352 bushels of oysters, from the Rappahannock river, 68,600 bushels, and from York river, 45,000 bushels. This, however, is but a small portion of the oyster trade of Virginia.

☞ N. B. Snyder, Treasurer of Somerset county, has failed, leaving his own creditors minus ten thousand dollars, the State Treasury four thousand dollars, and the county about two thousand two hundred dollars. He has been arrested on a charge of embezzlement. The Sommerset Whig says the case will undergo a thourough legal investigation.

☞ The Cold Snap in Canada.—The records of the weather at Montreal show that the four days from January 9th to 12th, together, form the coldest period for twenty-nine years. On the 11th, the mercury marked 33 degrees below zero. At St. Martin's, near Montreal, on the fifth, the spirit thermometer marked 43 6 degrees below zero ☞ Phrolignous acid has a wonderful effect on the preservation of animal food. A fresh piece of beef dipped into it for one minute during the summer, has been preserved perfectly sweet till the following spring. It is said a quart of the acid will impart to a barrel of hams a smoked flavor as perfectly as if they had been submitted to the usual process of smoking.

☞ The following toast was given at the late anniversary of the New England Society, at Minneapolis, Minnesota: The Live Yankee—He's a driven his keows to paster all over the Continent; keepin' school in Australia, pedlin' Cherry Pectoral in China; playin' "Yankee Doodle" in Japan; openin' a land office in Arizona; kissin' queens everywhere, and makin' himself at home generally without invitation.

☞ Don't be in a hurry to buy "Missouri lands at twelve and a half cents an acre." You may possible get a bite, but are more likely to be bitten at such figures. Land at this price can be had in Virginia, and even in Pennsylvania, but those who buy wisely will pay high-er prices for land of some real value—and at all events see the land before buying, unless you know the agent perfectly.

☞ A Lover in a Dilemma.—An unfortunate swain who has been duped by some fair maiden, thus relates the case:—

With whiskers thick upon my face,
I went my fair to see;
She told me she would never love
A BEAR faced man like me.
I shaved them clean and called again,
And thought my trouble o'er.
She laughed outright, and said I was More BARE FACED than before.

LETTER FROM HARRISBURG.

HARRISBURG, February 1st, 1859.

One month—being the first section of the Legislature panorama, has passed before our vision, and we can not, just at the moment, call to memory anything done calculated to work any very great change in the onward destinies of the world, or to retard or advance the march of man.

There was a faint hope indulged in at the opening of the session, that as there were but a very few bank charters asked for, but few incorporations would have the breath of life blown into their nostrils. But, sirs, they are here.—They come here and ask for vitality under a guise which even cunning Legislators can not see through. They do not claim to want powers of issue, but they actually want privileges of pawn-broking on a gigantic scale. One of these is called the "American Improvement & Loan Company," with a capital of $500,000, to go into operation when ten per cent. on each share is paid in. Among other things the Co. wants to do, is "to make loans of money and credit" "and emphatically to hold on deposit and in trust estate real and personal." Another is the "Indian and American Commercial Company," with a capital of $5,000,000, which asks for pawn-broking powers on a gigantic scale.—Such mammoth establishments credit expand, which is the only thing they have to lend, but never make money plentier. They do not ask powers to loan at more than legal rates, but under the new usury law, or rather the repeal of the old law, and the charges for storage of collaterals, they could so entrench themselves as to grind the life-blood out of the needy with ten fold more force than the ordinary Jew Pawnbrokers.

On Friday last, you will observe, Mr Coffey, read in place a bill to prevent the destruction of trout in Blair County, which it is to be hoped will become a law. Twelve years ago the enthusiastic disciples of Isaac Walton, could whip a half-a-mile of any stream in the country—enjoy the keenest sport extant, and return home with a basket full of trout. Now, alas! it is work and not amusement to take them. Their rapid extinction is not merely owing to the settling and opening of the country, but it is the villainious practice of luring them from their haunts with hook and worm at all seasons.—Half-a-dozen trout fishes a day, and twice as many on Sunday, in a stream, during the season, would in time extinguish them, but not so rapidly as do the fish-hawks, who take them in the spawning season, when, instead of taking one trout, they often take a hundred in embryo. The bill provides against this by making it a misdemeanor for any person to take trout out of any of the running streams in Blair county, between the 5th day of July and the 1st day of March, punishable by a fine of $10 and imprisonment in the county jail for a term of not less than thirty days. It remains for the interested to carry its provisions into effect, if it becomes a law.

The Legislative Record printing is a hydra-headed monster. No sooner is one of its heads cut off in the Senate, than another even more formidable than its predecessor springs up again in the House. I do not see that the steal—I beg pardon—profits of this job are so great as to require an entire session's Legislation upon it. I am very much mistaken if the loss of time consumed in debating the question has not already cost the State a trifle more than the publication of at least two Records. Yesterday the House brought over to the Senate another Resolution having for its object exactly what its predecessor, which was killed in the Senate on Tuesday last, had. Before it could be acted upon, however, the hour of adjournment arrived.

To-day, after the regular orders of the day were gone through with, the same subject was continued with variations in the shape of a debate of a very spicy nature. The resolution rescinding the contract fell by a tie vote, after which a resolution was adopted to appoint a committee to act in conjunction with a similar committee of the House and to contract for the printing and publishing of a daily Legislative Record.

The Committee in the Cambria contested election case has ended its labors and decided in favor of Proudfoot. No report has yet been made, and it is expected that a minority report will follow upon the heels of that made by the majority.

C. M. Donavan, convicted in the Quarter Sessions of an assault and battery upon J. M. Church, the particulars of which I gave you two weeks ago, was sentenced to-day to pay a fine of $200 and the costs of prosecution, undergo an imprisonment in jail for the term of three months and enter bail in the sum of $1000 to keep the peace. This is certainly a very severe sentence, as the conviction was only for simple assault and battery, and Church was so little injured as to be able to appear in his seat next day after the occurrence.

Nothing of any importance to-day in either House. In the Senate numerous petitions for appropriations to the contemplated monument were presented, and a few trifling bills in place were read. The House was employed on the private callendar, which contained nothing of interest.

LOGAN.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—We find in the Philadelphia papers a report submitted to the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad, by J. Edgar Thompson, Esq., in which the subject of the proposed extension of the road to the Delaware river is fully and ably discussed. Mr. Thompson urges strongly the propriety of the measure, and gives facts and figures to prove that it is the interest of the stockholders to have the extension carried out with as little delay as possible. Among the many reasons assigned by the gentleman why the improvement should be carried out is the fact that the reduced expenses of transferring the business at a Delaware river depot, accessible by steam power, and of transportation to it, would enable the Company, without interfering with the regular dividends, to reduce its charges upon the local traffic, and thus directly aid in developing the resources of the State. Accompanying the report was a resolution authorizing the Board of Directors to select a site for the proposed terminal depot, and to complete the extension of the road to the Delaware river at the earliest practicable period. The measure, we presume, will meet with the approval of the stockholders, whose sanction is all that is now required to carry it into effect.

SHOCKING DEATH IN WASHINGTON.—A young man of estimable character and fine talent, named John Hart, came to his death in Washington, D. C., in a most distressing manner, by getting accidently hung on the palings of a fence. It seemed, from what we could learn of the circumstances, that young Hart, who is the son of a very estimable gentleman, (formerly connected with the Charleston S. C. papers) came to his boarding house at a late hour, and attempted to climb over the palings of the front yard, and in doing so, his foot apparently slipped, and he was caught by the neck in such a way as to strangle him to death. A faithful dog, which was with his master, had endeavored, with all his power, to relieve him from the peril, and in doing so, tore the clothes entirely off from young Hart in his efforts to pull him down. When found in the morning the body was stiff and cold, and the clothes torn in shreds by the dog, lay scattered about, the faithful animal keeping guard over the dead body of his master.

AN INTERESTING TOWN.—The town of Carlisle is a great place, and has a large number of "peculiar institutions," which the American notices as follows:—

"We have Gas and Water, fine Hotels, elegant Boarding Houses, excellent Schools, Dickinson College, a beautiful Jail, a Female Seminary, Lager Beer and Switzer, two intermittent Faro Banks, the Barricks, nine Groggeries, four "Sweat Cloths," two "Thimble rigging" establishments, a Ten-pin Alley, and other exquisite institutions too numerous to mention, to say nothing of very peculiar luxuries, in the shape of horse races, cock-fights, dog-battles, nigger rows, pig chases, pole-climbings, had whiskey, soldier shindies, square-spinal-termination pullings, fancy balls, &c.

MURDER AT THE CARLISLE GARRISON.—On Thursday evening last two soldiers at the Garrison, named James Morrissey and Pat Quinn, both Irishmen, got into a fight, in which the former, it is said, got the worst of the battle, when they were separated. A few minutes after, the parties again met, when Morrissey picked up a large stone, with which he struck Quinn on the head, causing an injury from which he died on the evening following. Morrissey was arrested and is now in jail to await his trial.

THE PROPERTY OF KANSAS.—It appears by the statistics of Gov. Medary's message, that the taxable property of Kansas is placed at $25,000,000. As four fifths of the new improved farms are not pre-empted, and of course not yet taxable, it is evident that the wealth, when fairly estimated, will bear a good proportion to the population. The claims admitted by the Commissioner, for losses in the late war amount to $254,279 28, of which only $28.942 90 are for public losses.

PITTSBURGH, FT. WAYNE AND CHICAGO RAIL ROAD.—The earnings of this road for the month of December foot up $181,667,47, against $111,-928,78, for the same period last year, an increase of seventeen per cent. The expenses, however, for the same period were $44,726,68, more this year, so that the nett earnings of the road for the month exhibit a decrease of $24,-790 99. The decrease during the year, as compared with 1857, was $36,624 15.

ALL THE STANDARD PATENT MEDICINES AT [1-tf. KESSLER'S.

THE LIVER. INVIGORATOR
PREPARED BY DR. ASHFORD,
COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GUMS,

is one of the best Purgative and Liver Medicines before the public, that acts as a Cathartic, easier, safer and more efficient than any other medicine known, it not only a Cathartic, but a Liver remedy, acting first to the Liver to eject its morbid matter, then on the stomach and bowels to carry off the matter, thus accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the painful feelings experienced in the operations of most Cathartics. It strengthens the system at the same time that it purges it, and when taken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build it up with unusual rapidity.

The LIVER is one of the principal regulators of the human body; and when it performs its functions well, the system fully developed. The stomach is almost entirely dependent on the health and proper performance of the action of the Liver for the functions; when the stomach is at fault, the whole system suffers in consequence, having caused the Liver of that organ, one of the first study, in a proper manner, by some remedy wherever it is at fault, and by such arrangements to which it is liable.

To prove that this remedy is at last found, any person troubled with LIVER COMPLAINT, in any of its forms, has but to try a bottle, and conviction is certain.

These Gums remove all morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach, causing food to digest well, PURIFYING THE BLOOD, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease—effecting a radical cure.

BILIOUS ATTACKS are CURED, AGE, WHAT IS NEVER, PREVENTED, by the occasional use of the LIVER INVIGORATOR.

One dose after eating is much and prevent the food from rising and souring. Only one dose taken before. Only one dose taken at night, loosens the bowels gently, and cures Costiveness.

One dose taken after each meal will cure Dyspepsia. One dose of two spoonsful will always relieve SICK HEADACHE.

One bottle taken for female obstruction removes the cause of the disease, and makes a perfect cure. Only one dose immediately relieves Cholic, while it is a sure cure for Cramp Cholic. Only one bottle is needed to thoroughly cure any of the diseases of the system. One dose will cure the worst case of Nausea. One bottle is sufficient to relieve the most obstinate case of Jaundice. JAUNDICE removes all of these symptoms from the skin.

One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite, and makes the best digestion. One dose often repeated will cure Chronic Diarrhœa. its worst forms, while Summer and Bowel complaints yield almost to the first dose.

One or two doses cures attacks caused by Worms in children: there is no remedy in the world, as it is safe, sure, safer, or speedier in its cures.

A few bottles cures Dropsy by exciting the absorbents to throwing off the morbid matter, commencing the medicine and LIVER INVIGORATOR will Fevers of a Bilious type, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.

All who use it are giving their unanimous testimony in its favor.

☞ Mix Water in the mouth with the Invigorator, and swallow both together.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR
IS A SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL DISCOVERY, and is truly working curse, almost too great to believe. It cures as by magic, even the first dose giving benefit, and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of Liver Complaint, from the worst Jaundice or Dyspepsia to a common Headache, all of which are the result of a DISEASED LIVER.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

LOCAL ITEMS.

The Concert.—The concert for the benefit of the Poor, given at Keystone Hall, on Thursday evening last, was a most successful affair, in every particular. Through the instrumentality of the indefatigable Manager, Mr. Geo. B. Cramer, and a few others, the Hall was fitted up in elegant style. Three large national flags, neatly arranged under a large wreath of evergreen, decorated the wall behind the performers. Various parts of the room were also decorated with bunches of evergreen. In a circle immediately over the heads of the performers and in full view of the audience, were the words "Remember the Poor," in large letters. The Hall was well lighted and everything looked bright and cheerful.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather (it having rained all evening) the room, which would contain about 400 persons, was filled to overflowing long before the hour announced for the performance to commence; and the most gratifying feature was the large number of ladies. They turned out en masse, equalling the gentlemen. It was, in fact, just such an audience as we had asked for, the best that ever graced a public entertainment in the county.

All the musicians announced were in attendance, proving that no false annoucements had been made to attract a crowd to be entertained afterwards with apologies for the non-attendance of this or that performer. The Altoona Brass Band and Van Tries' Cornet Band of Hollidaysburg, acquitted themselves well, perfectly satisfying all who heard them that they are superior to most and equal to any institutions of the kind in the State. We feel proud of our Band, and the citizens of Hollidaysburg certainly have reason to feel proud of theirs. We can draw no comparison between them, and would not if we could. We consider that, living in towns so contiguous and liable to be often thrown together, there should be none of that ill-feeling which invidious comparison would engender, though we think it perfectly right that there should be rivalry enough to incite the members to increased efforts to perfect themselves in the rudiments of music and make them masters of their own instruments. The thanks of the citizens of this place are due, and, through us, are tendered to Van Tries' Cornet Band, for generously tendering their services in a good cause, and adding so much interest to the entertainment. The pieces of music executed by Messrs. Eller and Walker, on the violin, were exceedingly difficult, but the manner in which they performed them convinced every person that they were masters of their instruments, and were greeted with spontaneous outbursts of applause. Their performance at this concert has given them a reputation as violinists of which most men might well feel proud. The performance by the ladies, Misses Ivory & Brubaker and Mrs. Bowman and De La Rosa, were those most anxiously awaited by a large portion of the audience, and, all things considered, they were highly successful; although it was their first appearance before a public assemblage, their perfection in the parts assumed rendered them competent to fulfil the expectations of their friends and elicit the applause of those who could appreciate their efforts.—The Altoona String Band, got up for the occasion, added no little to the pleasures of the entertainment. We were agreeably disappointed in their part of the performance. We received far more than we had anticipated. We knew that we had many good musicians amongst us, but we did not imagine that they could, in so short a time, qualify themselves to take so conspicuous a part in a public entertainment. They deserve much praise. That part of the performance allotted to young Dougherty was well filled up. He is a good vocalist, and the pieces selected and performed by him were received by the entire assemblage with hearty applause, and he was invariably encored. With his voice and guitar accomplishments we would not be afraid to travel at any time, in any company.

Nothing occurred to mar the pleasures of the entertainment, the only inconvenience experienced was from the crowded condition of the room. Every person appeared satisfied with the music, the management of the entertainment, and themselves, the latter induced, no doubt, by their having contributed to the alleviation of the sufferings of a number of their fellow-beings.

Of the supper served up for the musicians at the Altoona House, after the concert, we shall speak in another article.

The following statement of the proceeds of the concert will show the handsome manner in which the call for aid, by the Relief Committee, has been responded to:—

GEO. B. CRAMER, Manager.

The above sum will be amply sufficient to place all the destitute of our town in comfortable circumstances during the season. Who that has contributed to bring about this result will not exult over it. It speaks louder and more effectively in favor of the generosity and liberality of the citizens of Altoona than words possibly could. Too much honor can not be awarded to those who for a few days devoted their time to getting up of the entertainment and disposing of the tickets. We will not name them. The report of the Manager will show to whom the honor belongs.

The Manager hereby returns his thanks to all the performers who were present on the occasion, and to the ladies in particular.

NOTICE.

A meeting of the citizens of Altoona will be held in Keystone Hall, on Saturday evening next, for the purpose of appointing Relief Committees in the different Wards, to act for the coming year. At the same time, the Treasurer who has been acting for the past year will present a statement of his account for examination. He wishes a full attendance, as he is anxious that all should know how the money collected last winter, has been distributed.

Applause at Public Assemblages.—We have a few locally appropriate words to say in regard to the above-named time-honored usage. The custom, we believe, originated with the ancient Romans; and we find recorded in reliable history, that upon one occasion, the birds of the air fell to the earth as dead, from the stunning effects of the noise of the vociferous applause at the Amphitheatre. This applause consisted wholly of the clapping of hands, and loud words of encouragement to the deserving performers at the entertainment. In the applause of these almost primitive times, among heathen nations, we can perceive some rationality; but in the public so-called laudations of latter days, among enlightened people, oh, how little! There is a class of people, now-a-days, who attend public gatherings for the ostensible purpose of making as much noise (and as contemptible beings of themselves) as possible, and interrupting the pleasure of peaceably disposed citizens. They yell at the top of their voices, clap their hands till they itch with pain, and stamp their feet till their very legs are benumbed, at the close, and even in the midst of every performance—thus embarrassing the performer, and deafening the ears of those who pay their mite to be entertained. This condemnable sort of applause worried us immeasurably, as well as the majority of those present, at the Concert for the Benefit of the Poor, on last Thursday night, and we were almost tempted, occasionally, to wish the brainless disturbers of public le ce a speedy exit out of a window—so much were we annoyed. We were sorry that our indefatigable Constable, J. K. Ely, was not present by invitation to arrest and imprison them as the law directs. We think it would be conducive of good to the peaceably disposed public, if the managers of public gatherings in our, town would hereafter procure Joe's services.—We are sure if they should, they would receive the thanks of all order-loving citizens of the town. Let us have this abominable practice stopped—the laws of the State are opposed to it; all good citizens are opposed to it—and all that is needed to do away with it is prompt energetic action. Joe, take the matter in hand, and a grateful community will bless you.

We desire here to state that those who misbehaved at the recent concert were not citizens of Altoona, but the offscourings of other places who are here temporarily.

The Supper at the Altoona House.—By invitation, we attended the supper served up at the Altoona House, on Thursday evening last, for the musicians in attendance at the Concert for the benefit of the poor. It was just such a supper as the gentlemanly proprietor of the house, John Woods, Esq., could get up on short notice. It consisted of oysters, cakes, jellies and various luxuries that would have tickled the palate of the most fastidious epicurean.—After ample justice had been done to the eatables, the manager of the Concert, Mr. Geo. B. Cramer, was toasted. Being a man of actions, not words, his response was short, but appropriate, and concluded with a toast to Col. Tate, of Bedford, who was present as a guest of Van Tries Band. Col. T. responded in a happy strain, paying a high compliment to the musicians, the Manager of the Concert, the liberality of the citizens of Altoona, and the supper.—A unanimous call was then made for a song, and Mr. Curry, who was present, was finally prevailed upon to respond which he did in excellent style. The next call was upon our humorous friend, Alex. Vaughn for his song "Oh! Angeline, I love you," which he sung in his usual inimitable style, to the great danger of the china ware on the table. After a toast to the kind host of the Altoona House, the festival was cut short by the announcement that the engine, which was to convey Van Trics' Band to Hollidaysburg, was in readiness. The best of feeling prevailed, and from expressions made we believe that the invited musicians were highly pleased with the manner in which they were received and entertained. Previous to departing, Van Trics' Band serenaded the Manager of the Concert at his residence in East Altoona.

Conviction for Cutting Timber.—The Legislature of this State, in 1824, passed an Act of Assembly making it a criminal offence for any one to go on the land of another, knowing it to be such, and cut timber trees. Lyon, Sharb & Co., Iron Masters and the owners of a large body of timber land adjoining the Tyrone Forge property, indicted a man by the name of Thos. Dougherty for violating the Act of 1824, and he was tried last week at the Quarter Sessions of this county, and convicted of the offence. We are informed that this is the first conviction under this Act, before Judge Taylor, in his Judicial District. The decision is a very important one to all owners of unoccupied timber lands. It being requisite under the Act to show the guilty knowledge of the Deft., to convict, and as most persons who carry away the timber do so under some pretended claim to the land, it is difficult to punish them. S. S. Blair and L. W. Hall Esqrs. were counsel for the Com. T. Banks and D. H. Hofius Esqrs., for the Deft.

Notice.—The voters of Logan township are hereby requested to meet at the White Hall Hotel, in Loudonsville, on Saturday, February 5th, at 2 o'clock P. M., to nominate candidates to be voted for at the ensuing township election which will be held on the 15th of February.

☞ For a good pair of suspenders with shoulder braces attached—call at Roush's Drug Store. We have tried a pair and consider them just the article.

Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative.—For the year past says the Rockland (Me) Gazette, we have been advertising the above named Hair Restorative, and month by month its sale has gradually increased, until it now commands a more ready sale than any other article of its kind, giving in almost every instance entire satisfaction. A clergyman, resiling in a neighboring town who had for years suffered from a burning sensation in the head, with an occasionly dry, itching humor, which prematurely turned the hair gray, and latterly causing it to come off rapidly, leaving the crown nearly bare, seeing the advertisement of the article in the Gazette, was induced to try it, and now, after the use of two bottles only, his hair has turned quite dark and is very soft, the scalp clean, and the recently bald spot covered with a beautiful growth of silky dark hair, the sight of which, with his commendation of the Restorative, will command an increased sale. We would state to any one who would wish to know, that we are permitted, privately, to give the name of the individual to whose case we refer. See advertisement.

Mud! Mud!! Mud!!!—Muddy! Muddy!! Muddy!!!—Muddiest! Muddiest!! Muddiest!!!—Mud in the streets—mud on the crossings—mud on the sidewalks—mud on the doorstep—mud in the kitchen—mud on the parlor carpet—mud on gents boots—mud on gents pants—mud on ladies shoes—mud on ladies stockings—(beg pardon—didn't see it there—but know it is if you have walked two squares)—mud on our right—mud on our left—mud before us—mud behind us—mud beneath us—we deprecate mud—we think of mud—we talk of mud—we write about mud—nothing but mud—we're so be-mud-dled with mud that we have written one of the muddiest items ever attempted. When we see a lady hesitating on a street corner, we think of the fate of a lady who attempted to cross a street in a Western town, a short time since. She was first seen to loose her overshoe, then a gaiter, and lastly her stocking, barely escaping with her foot—the latter being well fastened on. Should some of our ladies go home barefooted one of these days, their friends will know the cause.

Resignation and Appointment.—Mr. John B. Anderson has resigned his position as Superintendent of the Middle Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and accepted the appointment of General Superintendent of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne and Chicago Railroad. Mr. A.'s stay as Supt. Middle Division, P. R. R. was short, but sufficiently long to convince those over whom he was placed, as well as those who selected him, that he was capable of filling any station of the kind which might be entrusted to him.—With Mr. Anderson at the head of affairs on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne and Chicago Road, and the Pennsylvania Central under the care of its present General Superintendent, the route from Chicago to Philadelphia, we say without fear of contradiction, will be the best managed and most popular in the country. We have not learned who is to be Mr. Anderson's successor in the office at this place.

Meanness Unexampled.—The man who, in the still hour of midnight, would rob a henroost, is mean; he who would pilfer the last crust of bread from a blind, helpless widow, is meaner; and he who robs the printer of his hard-earned pay, is the meanest of the three characters mentioned; but, astounding fact! we have been informed of a still meaner brute than all these three! At the door of Keystone Hall, last Thursday night, on the occasion of the Concert for the Benefit of the Poor, some unprincipled, heartless, soulless, miserly wretch gave to the door-keeper a counterfeit quarter of a dollar! Superlatively superlative essence of meanness! your name is known; and if, by our next issue, you do not call at the Tribune Office and redeem your bogus coin, we will let the public know your name and occupation, to the utter ruination of your reputation in this community.

Extraordinary Telegraph Despatch.—The great cable in working order.—Fisher & Brother, electricians and original projectors of Love's Magnetic Telegraph, having carried the Field in triumphantly paying out and laying out the great Cable of Hymen, are—in honor of the Natal Day of St. Valentine, the renowned discoverer of Love's Electrical Current—now prepared to transmit, from their four great Telegraphic Batteries at Philadelphia, New York, Boston and Baltimore, all Love Messages, Despatches and Responses, in the most prompt, distinct and striking manner, by their House Printing Telegraph; guaranteeing no leakage or kink in their Cable—no decline of stock, nor imperfect insulation.

H. Fettinger, of the Literary Emporium No. 1, Altoona House, is agent for the above line for this place, and has on hand numerous messages for citizens of this place and invites them to call and get them immediately.

The Value of Good Lungs.—We advise our readers who are desirous of preserving the usefulness of the lungs and bronchical apparatus not to defer taking medicine in time for their cure. Most of the consumptive cases which end fatally, are the result of a small beginning of a cough or cold, which could be easily removed by a bottle of Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Cough Syrup, now put up and sold at 50 cents and $1 per bottle. It has had abundant evidence of its vast superiority over most other remedies, and those who resort to it in time will save a great deal of suffering from those disagreeable diseases which are so prevalent during the winter and spring months. You can get it at Dr. Keyser's Drug Store, No. 140 Wood Street.—Sold by Geo. W. Kessler, Altoona.

"Log Rolling."—Many persons make use of this term, in referring to Acts of the Legislature, and understand perfectly well what it means, yet do not know its origin. The phase is drawn from the clearing of forest land in a new country. The settler could himself cut down the trees, and cut them into lengths of logs. The next step was to roll them into heaps, for burning, and that he could not do without help; so he called his neighbors to help him to roll, and when they had a rolling he helped them. This was aptly applied to legislative action for the passage of laws for local measures. Vote for my bill and I will vote for yours. The phrase was probably western; it is certainly more than forty years old.

Scott Legion of Pennsylvania.—A meeting of the surviving officers and soldiers of the Mexican war of the counties of Blair, Cambria, Bedford, Huntingdon, and neighboring counties, will be held at the Logan House, (Corporal Keeffer's) Hollidaysburg, on the evening of the 22d February, inst., for the purpose of organizing a "SCOTT LEGION."

Recipe for a Modern Dress.—The following French recipe for the modern dress of a female, will be perused with interest by the lady readers of the Tribune. It was published nearly a century ago:—

"Hang a small bugle cap on, as big as a crown.
Snout it off with a flower, unigo dict, a pompoun,
Let your powder be gray, and braid up your hair,
Like the mane of a colt to be sold at a fair.
Your neck and your shoulders both naked shall be,
Was it not for Vandyke, blown with a chevaux de frise
Let your gown be a sack, blue, yellow, or green,
And fringle your elbows with ruffles sixteen
Purl off your lawn apron with flounces in rows,
Puff and pucker up knots on your arms and your toes,
Make your petticoats short, that a hoop eight yards wide,
May decently show how your gurters are tied."

A Card.—Whereas, a report has been put in circulation in this community (by interested parties, I presume) to the effect that Dr. S. Kimmel, of Hollidaysburg, while performing a dental operation upon me fractured my jaw, I wish, in justice to Dr. Kimmel, to state that the report is incorrect. GEORGE GREGG.

Altoona, Feb. 3, 1858.

Ho! for the Arctic Region!

If any of the Ladies are dissatisfied with the weather we are having, and desire visiting the Arctic Region, we would recommend them to call on C. J. MANN and replenish their wardrobe from his beautiful stock of which he is selling off CHEAP, being determined to dispose of them while the snow is screeching.

January 13th, 1859.

THE HALL OF FASHION is still open, and the Proprietor, in returning thanks to his numerous customers for their liberal patronage bestowed on him since his commencement, here desires to say (without fear of contradiction) that he is prepared to offer for their inspection the best assortment of handsome Dress Goods, Shawls, Cloaks, White Goods, &c., &c., that can be found in Altoona.

Respectfully, &c., C. J. MANN.

The Panic—More Failures.—The panic in New York seems to be on the increase. In this city everything goes on smoothly, and the only failures we have heard of were the failures to furnish good fits made by some inferior clothing establishments. There is no such difficulty to be encountered by those who patronize the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chesnut street, above sixth. Gentlemen and Youths never fail to procure capital fits at this popular establishment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Dalley's Magical Pain Extractor.

In all diseases inflammation more or less predominates—now to allay inflammation strikes at the root of disease—hence an immediate cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR, and nothing else, will allay inflammation at once, and make a certain cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR will cure the following among a great catalogue of diseases: Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Chafes, Sore Nipples, Corns, Bunions, Bruises, Sprains, Bites, Poison, Chilblains, Blies, Scrofula, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Felons, Ear Ache, Piles, Sore Eyes, Gout, Swellings, Rheumatism, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Baldness, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Barbers' Itch, Small Pox, Measles, Rash, &c., &c.

To some it may appear incredulous that so many diseases should be reached by one article; such an idea will vanish when reflection points to the fact, that the salve is a combination of ingredients, each and every one applying a perfect antidote to its apposite disorder.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR in its effects is magical, because the time is so short between disease and a permanent cure; and it is an extractor, as it draws all disease out of the affected part, leaving nature as perfect as before the injury. It is scarcely necessary to say that no house, work-shop, or manufactory should be one moment without it.

No Pain Extractor is genuine unless the box has upon it a steel plate engraving, with the name of Henry Dalley, Manufacturer.

Sold by G. W. Kessler, Altoona; George A. Jacobs, Hollidaysburg; and by all the Druggists and patent medicine dealers throughout the United States and Canadas.

Principal Depot, 165 Chambers street, New York.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY.

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS.

Prepared from a prescription of Sir J. Clarke, M. D., Physician Extraordinary to the Queen.

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of all those painful and delicate diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excess and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied on.

TO MARRIED LADIES

it is peculiarly suited. It will, in a short time, bring on the monthly period with regularity.

Each bottle, price one dollar, bears the Government Stamp of Great Britain, to prevent counterfeits.

CAUTION.

These Pills should not be taken by females during the first three months of Pregnancy, as they are sure to bring on Miscarriage, but at any other time they are safe.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Hysterics and Whites, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed, and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

Full directions in the pamphlet around each package, which should be carefully preserved.

Sole Agent for the United States and Canada,
JOB MOSES, (late I. C. Baldwin & Co.)
Rochester, N. Y.

N. B.—$1.00 and 6 postage stamps enclosed to any authorized Agent, will insure a bottle, containing 50 Pills, by return mail.

WIGS—WIGS—WIGS.

BATCHELOR'S WIGS AND TOUPEES surpass all.—They are elegant, light, easy and durable.

Fitting to a charm—no turning up behind—no shrinking off the head; indeed, this is the only Establishment where these things are properly understood and made.

Nov. 18, 1858-1y 233 Broadway, New York.

TOOTHACHE.

This disease can be cured by Dr. Keyser's Toothache Remedy, prepared by him in Pittsburgh, Pa., which is put up in bottles and sold at 25 cents each. It is an excellent medicine, when diluted, for spongy and tender gums, and is worth ten times its price to all who need it. Sold here by G. W. Kessler. [Dec. 9, 1858-1y.

HAIR DYE—HAIR DYE—HAIR DYE.

WM. A. BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE!

The Original and Best in the World!

All others are mere imitations, and should be avoided, if you wish to escape ridicule.

GRAY, RED, or RUSTY HAIR. Dyed instantly to a beautiful and natural Brown or Black, without the least injury to the Hair or Skin.

Fifteen Medals and Diplomas have been awarded to Wm. A. Batchelor since 1840, and over 80,000 applications have been made to the hair of his patrons of his famous Dye.

WM. A. BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE produces a color not to be distinguished from nature, and is WARRANTED not to injure in the least, however long it may be continued, and the ill effect of Bad Dyes remedied; the Hair invigorated for Life by this Splendid Dye.

Made, sold or applied (in 9 private rooms) at the Wig Factory, 233 Broadway, New York.

Sold by Druggists in Altoona, and by Druggists in all cities and towns of the United States.

JOHN ALLISON.

MARRIED.

On the 20th ult., at the Lutheran Parsonage, by Rev. J. Steck, Mr. HENRY LANTZ to Miss CATHARINE HILSDEIMYER, both of Altoona, Pa.

On the 26th ult., by the Rev. J. Hassler, Mr. JAMES P. SCOTT, of Huntingdon county, to Miss MARTHA ANN HYLE, from near Martinsburg, Blair county, Pa.

On the 25th ult. by the Rev. Lloyd Knight, Mr. DAVID TYLER of Logans Valley, to Miss AGNES BARNWELL of Hollidaysburg.

DIED.

In this Borough, on Friday last, ELLEN, daughter of Cornelius McLaughlin, aged about 5 months.

On the 24th ult., in Altoona, Mrs. ELIZABETH DAVIS, mother of John Davis, aged 77 years, 8 months and 9 days.

Our beloved friend, whose death we record above, has been a member of the United Brethren Church for about twenty-five years. She has exerted a healthful Christian influence during her warfare. We are informed that for a number of years past she has been waiting for the period when death would bid her travel from this body of sin and death. Death to her had no sting, no dread. Oh! no; her mortal life was "swallowed up in victory." Thus our friend has left her early house of clay and corruption, and entered the immortal in the celestial regions, where there are no deaths, no graves. Truly may we exclaim, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

"Why do we mourn departing friends,
Or shake at death's alarms?
'Tis but the voice that Jesus sends
To call them to his arms."

R. H. F.

On the 30th inst., of Typhoid Fever, MICHAEL AULTZ, of Hollidaysburg, aged about 60 years.

In Logan township, on the 30th instant, Mrs. MARY WILLIAMS, widow of Thos. Williams, Esq., deceased, aged about 70 years.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT!

NEW MEDICAL SALT! NEW MEDICAL SALT!

IT IS NOT A CURE-ALL.

For Inflammatory Diseases Only!

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT, instead of being a remedy for all ills, has control over but one ill, but that one fatal, and subcomplishes but one thing, to wit: SUDDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE, whatever be its form or locality, whether in the head, throat, abdomen, extremities or skin.

The peculiar excellence of the NEW MEDICAL SALT is, that without the useless loss of blood and strength, it effectually cures INFLAMMATORY DISEASES (no other) by producing an equilibrium of all the fluids in the body, the want of which is the sole cause of inflammation.

INVALIDS, TAKE NOTICE!! The following forms which the unbalanced fluids assume, and many not here mentioned, that have more or less fever, are as easily subdued by the NEW MEDICAL SALT, as fire is extinguished by water, to wit: Brain Fever, Headache, Rush of Blood to the Head and Heart, Pits, Inflamed Eyes, Ears and Nose, Canker, Neuralgia, Spinal Affections, Erysipelas, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Asthma, Inflamed Lungs and Liver, Heartburn, Coughs, Dyspepsia, Venereal Diseases, Rheumatism, Gout, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, and all Itching and other cutaneous eruptions.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT exerts, like the vaccine matter, an extraordinary influence on the veins and arteries, resulting in a gradual decline of inflammation as indicated by the pulse, which soon resumes its natural state, as the heat, pain and fever disappear.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT does just what it claims to do—no more, no less—equalizes the fluids, by removing from the system all arterial and venous obstructions. Description circulars may be obtained from any Druggist who has this valuable medicine for sale.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION, PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, affected with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

The HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual Diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a charitable act worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases, in all their forms, and to give medical advice gratis, to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.,) and in cases of extreme poverty and suffering, to furnish medicine free of charge. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Supermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self-abuse, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves, with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, of Seminal Weakness, the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self-abuse, and other abuses of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope); FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, &c., are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address, for Report or Treatment, Dr. GEORGE R. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 S. Ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa. By order of the Directors.

HOME TESTIMONY.

[From the Lewistown Aurora.]

I have been afflicted for ten years with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have received more benefit from Du Vall's Galvanic Oil than any other medicine I ever used. ALEX. McKEE.

Oliver township, Mifflin county, Pa.

This is to certify that I used Du Vall's Galvanic Oil in my family in some of the diseases for which it is recommended and found to act almost spontaneously. I recommend it to all who suffer from pain. A. M. INGRAM.

Sept. 2, '58—1y. Decatur township, Mifflin co., Pa.

A CARD.—Hear what Mrs. Vaughn of Duncansville says:—I have used the Galvanic Oil prepared by J. D. Stoneroad, Lewistown, Pa., for a very painful disease myself and recommend it to others, and in every case found it to be one of the very best medicines for sore and painful diseases. Relieves all pain in a few minutes. Every family should have it in the house.

Sept. 16, 1858.—1y.

NEW GROCERY FEED AND PROVISION STORE.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Altoona and vicinity that he has opened a store of the above kind, near the corner of Adaline and Julia streets, East Altoona, where he will keep constantly on hand a full supply of everything in his line. His are all fresh and will be sold at prices as low as those of any other establishment in town. His stock of provisions, consisting of will be sold a little cheaper than they can be bought any where else. His Flour is obtained from the best mills in the Western part of the State, and is warranted to be what it is represented.

All kinds of Feed for horses, cows and hogs, always on hand.

I intend to keep such an assortment that I shall at all times be able to supply my customers with whatever they may need, and I intend also to sell at prices which will make it a saving to those who patronize my store.

July 22, 1858-3m. HENRY BELL.

POSITIVE INFORMATION!—THE undersigned having perfected their Spring Stock, now offer to the public the LARGEST LOT OF GROCERIES ever presented in the town of Altoona.

Our object in publishing this card is to present the following facts:

1st. The recent hard times have very much reduced the price of Groceries in the city, especially to cash buyers.

2d. We bought these Groceries in large lots, many of them from first hands.

3d. We bought them entirely for cash.

4th. We sell for ready pay.

5th. We keep our stock full by weekly receipts.

6th. We are determined to keep up the credit of our house.

7th. We sell more GROCERIES than any other store in Blair county, at less per cent.

8th. We sell cheaper than any other store in the county. A continuation of patronage is respectfully solicited.

Altoona, June 10, 1858. RICHARD McLAIN.

BY ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Did you hear the news from Europe? If you have not, we will tell you what it is. It is that HENRY TUCK has just returned from the Eastern cities with a large supply of consisting of all styles and qualities of Overcoats, Dress Coats, Vests, Pants, Boots and Shoes, and everything kept in an establishment of the kind, all of which he offers at unprecedentedly low prices for cash. Having purchased his stock at cash prices, he is thereby enabled to sell very low.

He invites all those in want of anything in his line to give him a call, feeling sure that he will be able to give satisfaction. HENRY TUCK.

GREAT DISCOVERY OF THE AGE IMPORTANT TO TOBACCO CHEWERS.

DR. GUSTAV LINNARD'S TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES, the great Substitute for Tobacco.

It is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood derange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the noxious weed will bear testimony—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES

Are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved completely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the entire system, restoring the Taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which are always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irretrievably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

These Troches of Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 Cents per Box. A liberal discount to the Trade.

Prepared solely by the undersigned to whom all orders should be addressed.
